

Being a Kid in Hospital by Roxanne McLeod and Families of the Music Therapy Unit

Soloists: Time to wake up Time for a scan shhh'd shhh'd shhh'd shhh'd
Beep beep

Sopranos:

Being a kid in hospital is not very fun
With machines that beep and fridges that hum
Keeping me awake all through the night
Feeling so tired come the new daylight
The early wake-ups are simply the worst
With tests and obs and procedures that hurt
Missing my school
Long days and nights that don't seem to end
But you know it's not all that bad
There is something that can help so I don't feel so sad
There's music. helps to break up the day
There's music, makes me feel less afraid
There's music, it's so much fun to sing and play
Being in hospital is lonely sometimes
So many feelings I can't put into words
It's hard to speak up to let my feelings be heard.
But you know, there's still a way
There is something that can help me say what I want to say
There's music, helps express how I feel,
There's music makes my goosebumps appear
There's music, makes me smile from ear to ear.
There's music, singing my favourite song
There's music, playing instruments along

There's music, helps to distract me from what's going on.

Music therapy is the best part of the day.

A magical time that puts a smile back on my face

I always look forward to my chance to sing and play

There's music, helps express how I feel

There's music, makes my goosebumps appear.

There's music, makes me smile from ear to ear.

There's music, helps to break up the day,

There's music makes me feel less afraid

There's music, it's so much fun to sing and play

There's music There's music There's music